Library & Knowledge Service

East Cheshire NHS Trust

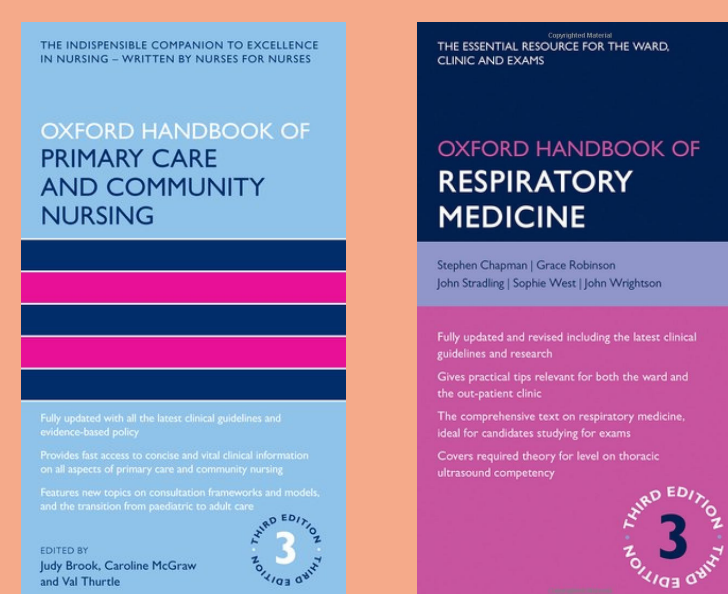

November 2020

Library News

Since March the library staff have been working in a different way and supporting our HR colleagues as an integral part of the onboarding and induction process to free up clinical staff time. This has taken the majority of our time over the summer, although we have managed to continue to run a fully staffed service and to respond to all your requests for information. We quickly developed a COVID Knowledge Hub on the library website to bring together the rapidly changing evidence and information. In the coming months we are looking forward to increasing our support for Knowledge Management and to developing the services we offer. Our new newsletters are a way for us to share new resources and services with you and to facilitate evidence-based decision making in the trust.

RESOURCE OF THE MONTH

Oxford Medicine

The Oxford Medical Textbooks and Specialist Handbooks are available full-text online as part of our subscription to Oxford Medicine. You can access the full-text with your NHS Athens account. Search the collection from the library catalogue:

Health Stories

A collection of personal stories written by people living with a variety of conditions

Available to borrow from the library

COVID-19 Evidence

If you would like a COVID-19 related evidence or literature search email the search question to the library and we will perform the search for you. We will email you the search results with links to the full-text where available.

How Do I ... ?

Register for an NHS Athens account?

Complete the registration form and follow the link from the confirmation email. Ideally use your NHS email address and a Trust PC. Any queries contact the library.
